

University of Florida/Shands

January 2017: As for the fertility clinic at UF/Shands, I have had some casual contact with them over the years, never successfully re donor information. I don't even know what their policies reflect at this point but I would bet they are not going to be the most progressive group. I would guess they are highly aware of the protocols now suggested for telling children of their origins, how they handle this now I don't know. I do know that in the late 80s when a local single pediatrician applied to be a patient for AID, she was told they would not take a single woman patient, and she had to sue them to become part of the AID program. Years ago I called in to the UF/Shands Fertility Clinic for someone to talk to me about donor records, they took my information but never called me back. I recently called again, left my information, but they have not contacted me.