

CLEVELAND CLINIC

I recently went searching for the medical records of my donor. They apparently LOST the files. And this is THE Cleveland Clinic we are talking about. I felt like suing the clinic for negligence! But what really ticked me off was the fact that they had contacted my mother and told her I was searching. Now that was an awkward conversation I had with my mom after the clinic called her. The clinic needed HER permission to release the information. That just seems wrong to me. But the files were mysteriously missing, so I have reached a dead end. Oh well, such is life I guess :-)
